

PN Wood Fired Pizza: The Focus on Flour

New York City is definitely not short on supply of pizza, from 99-cent slices that you get at 3:00 AM and immediately regret when you wake up, to high end pizzas that you question why you're still so hungry for having paid so much for artisan ingredients.

Fortunately for us, newly opened in the Flatiron District is PN Wood Fired Pizza, easily accessible in the Flatiron District that is the best of everything.